In der stillen Einsamkeit,
findest Du mein Lob bereit.
Grosser Gott, erh re mich,
denn mein Herze suche Dich.

Unver nderlich bist Du,
nimmer shtill und doch in Ruh.
Yahreszeiten Du regiersht, und sie ordenlich einf hrsht.

Diese kalte Winder Luft, mit Enfindung Gr ft ruft.
Sehet welch ein starker Herr,
Summer, Winder machet Er.

This is a Pennsylvania German (commonly referred to as Pennsylvania Dutch) children's song to the tune of Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star. Pennsylvania German is a West Central German dialect spoken by more than 250,000 people in the American states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana and in the Canadian province of Ontario. Nowadays, the dialect is mostly spoken by (elderly) Amish people and many other non-Amish descendants of German, Swiss and Dutch immigrants.

Pennsylvania German doesn't have any standard writing system, so both English-based and German-based systems are used. These lyrics are written in a mixture between an English-based and German-based writing system.
