I... I took it for granted and you, you threw it all away now here we are,
it seems like we're stranded and come to realize it's just a matter of time

but you already know
but you already feel
it won't last forever
but you know how to hate me
how to forget me... forever

but you already know
we don't belong... together... together why, can't try to make the best of it now we're lost, caught up in the maze and by the end of the day we will go our own way... our own way

but you already feel

but you already know
we don't belong...

now here we are, close together all alone where we stranded where we'd go, no it seems like we don't know, no, hear the pain run for cover take the blame it'll never be the same... again

but you already feel

but you already feel
and you already know
