(Michael McDonald)

So you tell him to say no more
You don't want to know why or where
Where he's been all these lonely nights
You know what's wrong and don't care what's right
As long as he comes back to you
Someone to love him all his life
It ain't nothin' but a heartache
Darling, you'll get over it
It ain't nothing but a heartache
Darling, you'll get over it

There's always there comes a day
When love just goes away
When there's no caring, no words to say
There's no forgiving, no games to play
When all you know will get you through
Seems like you've known it all your life

It ain't nothin' but a heartache
Darling, you'll get over it
Darling, you'll get over it
