Shes the last girl I thought I'd ever see here
But There stands the preachers daughter, holdin' a beer
A tatoos of an Angel on the small of her back How cool is that?
She probably dont remember me
Its been a long, long time About then she turned around, kind of stared at me and smiled
She said i had the hots for you in Sunday school class Now tell me how cool is that?
How cool is a hot summer night
When the stars line up and everything feels just right
How cool is knowing in sight that Im the ones shes lookin at
with that look in her eye...
About then I asked her if she was still seein ol' whats his name?
She said Has it really been that long, No a lot of things have changed
She brushed her hair back and said lets not talk about the past
How cool is that?
How cool is a hot summer night
when the stars line up and everything feels just right How cool is knowing in sight that Im the one shes lookin at
With that look in her eye
How cool is knowing in sight that im the one shes lookin
With that look in her eye
Yeah, shes the last one I thought I'd ever see here
There stands the preachers daughter, holdin' a beer
