I can't count the barns I've passed
Painted red, white and black
See Rock City
And up ahead there's a turn
Take me right through Gatlinburg
I hear its pretty

Maybe some other time
I can't slow down
Right across that state line
Right about now

Her hair still wet from her bath
She's sitting on the front porch
With a glass of iced tea
In my sweatshirt, in her bare feet
This I gotta see

If I hurry I can catch
The colors on her skin from that sunset
Her face and that look waitin' on me
This I gotta see

I can't wait to get to her
Man I wish I were
There already
She's the only thing that keeps
This world from driving me
Crazy

I just hit that city limit
Yeah and thats a pretty good sign
And if I pick it up a bit
I'll be right on time

Her hair still wet from her bath
She's sitting on the front porch
With a glass of iced tea
In my sweatshirt, in her bare feet
This I gotta see

If I hurry I can catch

The colors on her skin from that sunset
Her face and that look waitin' on me
This I gotta see

Her hair still wet from her bath
She's sitting on the front porch
With a glass of iced tea
In my sweatshirt, in her bare feet
This I gotta see

If I hurry I can catch
The colors on her skin from that sunset
Her face and that look waitin' on me
This I gotta see

Yeah this I gotta see
