I'm not easily scared by things that go bump in the night

There's not many things that give me a fright
I can walk down a lonely block
Not a lot can make my old knees knock

But, there's one thing that scares me the most
Is when I think I see a ghost and
I thought I saw you last night
I thought I saw you last night

I've been lately thinking about a Ouija board
And maybe contacting your soul ceded by the Lord
'Cause all the shadows on my street
That bring with sounds of shuffling feet

But, there's one thing that scares me the most
Is when I think I see a ghost and
I thought I saw you last night
I thought I saw you last night

Throw salt on my shoulder and knock on wood
Don't step on cracks, but it does no good
I drink a bourbon to calm my nerves
Read an old book and chant some verse

Hold hot coals in the middle of my fist
Take advice from my exorcist
Hallelujah, hail Mary
Holy Molly this is scary

For instance, last night I went to a scary movie
And I tried real hard not to let it get to me
But, I just kept looking over my shoulder
The wind got hands and I got colder

But, there's one thing that scares me the most
Is when I think I see a ghost and
I thought I saw you last night
I thought I saw you last night

I'm not easily scared by things that go bump in the night
