The lion and the monkey
Were walking through the jungle
Till the light they were seeking
Wasn't there no more, hey-hey
Hey-hey!
The monkey said:
"Leo we're a team that's right"
The lion licked his chops
And then he set to bite, hey-hey
Hey-hey
It's all been said before
I don't take it as gospel no more
The lady and the lover
Were talking to each other
With satin kisses
And candy corn, hey-hey,
Hey-hey
Five years later
There's pain and resentment
And a stony silence
About as thick as mud, hey-hey
Hey-hey
It's all been said before
I don't take it as gospel no more
Me and the governor
Were talking with each other
About the power of one man
To change the world, hey-hey
Hey-hey
Two months later
I was taken by surprise
When the governor put his vote
On the other side, hey-hey
Hey-hey
It's all been said before
I don't take it as gospel no more
No more
I don't take it no more
