It won't be for a while
Then comes a smile
Takes me back to yesterday
Or maybe on the radio
I will hear that long ago song you always loved to play
That's when I know I can't pretend
Thoughts of you will simply end
Just because you've gone away

I will remember you
There's no forgetting someone who Just took my life and made it new You'll always be a part of what is me
I will remember you
And everything that we've been through
No matter where life leads me to you'll hold a place that time cannot erase

You changed the way
I live each day

I will remember you
And though each day brings more to do
What still remains is love that's true
My love won't die because we said good-bye
Love won't die because we said good-bye
