When evening starts to fall
Within these walls
I'll hear a voice that I cannot ignore
Reminding me my life could be a life that somehow means much more
When morning slowly breaks, this world will take Another spin as I head out the door
Today it's time to see if I'm the friend someone's been waiting for

One little miracle
I can make
To give a little more
Than what I take
One little miracle
I can start
With just a simple act from the heart
One little miracle
May not be
Some kind of spectacle
For all to see
One little miracle
I can start
With just a simple act from the heart

Every day there's heartbreak
Someone's sad out there
But it really helps to know
That there's someone else who cares

One little miracle
I can make
To give a little more
Than what I take
One little miracle
I can start
With just a simple act from the heart
One little miracle
May not be
Some kind of spectacle
For all to see

One little miracle
I can start
With just a simple act from the heart
That's all a miracle has to be...
