"The Light Of God"

Close your eyes, your soul will keep
The light will shine while you sleep

There will be light to keep you warm
Light beyond each storm
Light throughout your darkest day
There will be light from up above
Light that's only love
Light that always shines your way
There will be light when you're alone
Light to take you home
Light when everything is gone
There will be light to calm your fear
Light that will be near
Light that will live on and on

So close your eyes, your soul will keep
The light will shine while you sleep

There will be light to keep you warm
Light beyond each storm
Light throughout your darkest day
There will be light from up above
Light that's only love
Light that always shines your way
The light of God will shine your way
