Color me in whoever you like
It might be hard to stay in my shifting lights
And just so you know my love for you is a color yellow
I can't breath in I save a sense I languor on your face
I can't expel I only silent give myself away
So feature by feature inch by inch
Hair by hair poor by poor .. these memories my face
Just in case is it .. how we behave these days
I call out your name in the thousand different ways
So hold my hand with great awareness Finger by finger nail by nail .. because you never know it
When we no more have these hands to hold Please inhale this minute and hold it in Switch it around to save the love
That we found once upon a time I be .. last down your spine
All I have left are patterns of .. fairy ends on your chest
So let's .. now all we are now piece by piece laugh by laugh
Touch by touch and all feels out too much
I save them so we have enough
And just so you know
My love for is the color yellow
