

Stewart Copeland

"Priceless"

Visit "Priceless" on MotoLyrics.com

I remember when I'd run to you through fields of white flowers.
Your embrace was my air.
How I needed you there.
All of the world and all of its powers couldn't keep your
love from me.
I need you like the dragonfly's wings need the wind,
like the orphan needs home once again,
like heaven needs more to come in.
I need you here like you've always been.
then I waved goodbye to you from fields of white
flowers.
You were so proud of me.
I was too proud to see that all of the world
and all of its powers couldn't keep your love from me.
taking for granted all of her smiles that got away.
now I'm looking up at you from fields of white flowers
you were so proud of me and I'm so proud of you.
All of the world and all of its powers couldn't keep your
love from me.

Visit Stewart Copeland page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.