A poor man's sport
We've fallen short of reasoning Sex does not determine capability But we let our hostility be our guide to decide what's right for a girl and for a guy Because every sex is just as able to keep this foundation stable Enough is enough, speak it up it's tough but don't think that your unable

Let acceptance be our key to unlock our integrity From there we'll be able to see that there's more than she and he

No longer constrained by insecurity Chauvinism aside, we'll let acceptance be our guide

Once this is done, progression will come Time and time again we take a step back from where we began
I cannot stress this enough, cannot run this course without you Like it's been said before two heads are better than one

No apology, just equality
It takes a fool to see that a girl isn't equal in the world
Never again
Here minds constrained, voices retained
Our hearts beat the same They've been here just as long and they're just as strong

Just as strong, still going strong Overcome

I can only hope that you'll overcome Stand up be strong.
