To stand on my two feet
To lock these trembling knees
This is what we need to not fall in the defeat
They can't break me down

And I am sick and tired of fighting fire with fire We've been misplaced, we've been defaced but our hearts will never be erased
Fire with fire
We've been misused, we've been diffused but this fight we will not lose
And I will not resist to ever make a fist

(Let's go!)
Resistance marked as a weakness
Ignorance masked as intelligence
I stand in defiance

Our violence has left us with a head made of stone and a heart just as cold
A youth overdosing on animosity and loathing, has made us close the gates and create a beast
A being like no one has ever seen
We have made ourselves mere men among giants
May you stand with me in defiance
May our only defense be letting down our defense
Let defenselessness left free of all our fences

No longer will hostility guide us
And no longer will hate divide us
And no longer will violence undermine us
