

Domini"Bright blue sunday morning"

Visit "Bright blue sunday morning" on MotoLyrics.com

Chorus)

The sun broke through the night

My eyes were touched by the velvet light and a new day started calling

On a bright blue sunday morning

Just like paint that hasn't set

Just layed on it still is wet

Waited for this day since the day i was born

Waitin for this bright blue sunday morn

Its a reason for my liberty

a point for living

Something to look forward to in this vicinity

something to be forgiving

In a sence of minority

It doesn't stop

In a sence of majority

It doesn't drop

(Chorus)

I've waited all my life for the moment of glory

Angels have run through my head

They have writen my life story

Writen it straight from my bed

Things i can't recall

My life flashes before my eyes

Gettin ready for freefall fallin out of the clouds and through the winter sky's

(chorus)

People don't seem to realise what life is all about

Not your problems or your last beer

Not the good memories of your earliar years but the good things that will amount

(chorus)

(chorus

Visit Domini page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.