Just a girl the only one
She lives at home but she's all alone
And her life is so mixed up
She just cant tell the difference
Between the bottom and the top
Of her reality existence

I know its true, I know its true
I know its true, I know its true

Extend a hand(tell her)
There's someone out there waiting just for her
Extend a hand(show her)
When she finds Him it will be alright again

Now she stands outside the door
Not knowing what's in store
And she starts to question what its all for Cause she been there so many times before
And she starts to question why she's there
Why cant this life just play fair?

Extend a hand(tell her)
There's someone out there waiting just for her
Extend a hand(show her)
When she finds Him it will be alright again
