

Decemberists, The

"Angel, Won't You Call Me?"

Visit "Angel, Won't You Call Me?" on MotoLyrics.com

Angel, won't you call me?
Could I be the only?
Though I am a lost cause
Angel, won't you call me?

Waiting for a sweet breeze
Read it in the tea leaves
Saw them crown you May Queen
Heard you sing the sweetest sleep

But I've been so unbridled,
I've fled in the face of my rival
When I felt his breath
At the back of my neck
Angel, won't you call?

So here I am in corduroys,
Catch it in your polaroids
Thought it was an off night
Caught in such a warm light

Angel, won't you call me?
Could I be the only?
Though I am a lost cause
Angel, won't you call me?

'Cause I've been so unbridled,
I've fled in the face of my rival
When I felt his breath
At the back of my neck
Angel, won't you call?

Visit Decemberists, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.