Is it really over yet
I can't stop crying, my eyes are wet
I can't believe it's true
I mean it's supposed to be me and you

In your eyes I see a light
too bad it's not me you want to hold tight

Stop believing and face the fact
The sweet guy he's playing is just an act
He's just like all the others
He never really bothers
Stop believing and face the fact

Things are never what they seem
The words that you say tell me what they mean
This is where I started, and I promised to never go back Cause love is not for me, gotta tell myself and face the fact

In your eyes I see a light
too bad it's not me you want to hold tight

Stop believing and face the fact
The sweet guy he's playing is just an act
He's just like all the others
He never really bothers
Stop believing and face the fact

I didn't see it coming
But baby you were gone
Now I find myself running
Cause I knew you were the one

It is over you know it's true
I know that it's over no more me and you
He's just like all the others
He never really bothers
You know it's over, it's over now

Stop believing and face the fact
The sweet guy he's playing is just an act
He's just like all the others
He never really bothers
Stop believing and face the fact
