"When You Left In December"

When you're back to where you started
All the memories you remember
Oh nothing is what it used to be
When you left in December you're back in September again

When you're back where you left everything behind
And you wish you could just rewind
All the things you missed and everything you wished fo
What will happen now?

Think about all the good times
You know, things will never be the same
Shed a tear but don't let it break you down
When you left in December then late in September you come around

When you're back where you left everything behind
And you wish you could just rewind
All the things you missed and everything you wished fo
What will happen now?

Think about all the good times
You know, things will never be the same
Shed a tear but don't let it break you down
When you left in December then late in September you
come around
