Stripping our consciousness blinding our consents hiding behind fake smiles. I've seen you for what your really are and it's sickening. Still we wait for revolution, but will we wait until they take us all away. Lying television scream. I've seen past your wall of lies, and I'm not laughing. Still we wait for revolution, but will we wait until they take us all away. To get inside to see the veins, and rip them lose until you choke on your own blood. Deep inside tear you down, cut your were you really hurt, expose your true faces. Deep inside tear you down and make you bleed as much as you've made others bleed. Your blood would fill o
