When I look

And my eyes finally meet a lady

Who has something unique

I must know her

Don't stumble on my feet

Get together

At least just enough to speak

To this stranger

If I dream, I'm bound to lose my place

Fascinated, with this beautiful face

Watching her eyes

There focusin' on me

Pay attention, she is talking to me

I'm the stranger

Tryin' to remember that getting it wrong

Is what everyone does

Mutual attraction can be so

Distracting, forget where you were

Strangers can fall in love

When you think about love at all

And you wind up cryin' the blues
And the loneliest person that you know
Is starin' out of the mirror at you you you
Are the stranger
And you know the danger
It'll be right
And you know that she's
With you
She ain't thinkin'
About what she's supposed to do
Worry'in
Might as well just be pretendin'
Hurryin'
When you know every new
Friend is a stranger
