It isn't really over- until we say good-bye.

And we won't have an end- unless it's allowed to begin.

It isn't really over- until we say good-bye.

But not tonight- that wouldn't be right.

So just allow me- one more lustful embrace.

One last chance- to see your face.

Only one more kiss- upon my lips.

Before I forget it's- sweet soft taste.

I know that- things may have gone sour.

And that these- maybe our last loving hours.

So let's set our hearts- on the here and now.

Looking back we can say- it was an easy road out.

With only seconds before- I walk out that door.

I wonder why- this can't be anymore.

Whether the arguing- made our souls sore.

I wonder why- we couldn't win that war.

It isn't really over- until we say good-bye.

And we can't have an end- unless it's allowed to begin.

It isn't really over- until we say goodbye.

But not tonight- that wouldn't be right.

There have been- those awkward moments.

Where I questioned- our very relationship.
But there have also been- those of pure bliss.
And that's why it's so hard- for me to end this.
Understand that I- am often confused.
And sometimes I- may have an attitude.
Don't get me wrong- no one should be singin' the Blues.
When after all- ignorance comes with being a youth.
Now we both may've- said or done things that were wrong.
But that doesn't mean- we can't ever get along.
Because we're both- passionate and head-strong.
So maybe somehow- we'll learn to carry on.
It isn't really over- until we say good-bye.
And we can't have an end- unless it's allowed to begin.
It isn't really over- until we say good-bye.
Letting out a sigh- I let you out of my life.
It isn't really over- until we say good-bye.
If we never see again- let us part as friends.
It isn't really over- it isn't really over- until we say goodbye.
Until we say good-bye-...Good-bye.
