VERSE 1

I no longer always think of you
Memories have eased away
I no longer feel the need for you
Till I saw someone yesterday

Just an old friend that we both knew
Someone with whom we'd pass the time
We talked about the good old days
How everyone had changed their ways
And then she asked if I had heard from you

CHORUS

Until someone says your name
My life goes on much like before
I find I do the same old things
Go through the motion, I pull the strings
Until someone says your name

VERSE 3

I guess there will always be a place for you within my soul within my mind
There was so much that I could give
There was so much for which to live
How could you ever be so blind

CHORUS

Until someone says your name
My life goes on much like before
I find I do the same old things
Go through the motion, I pull the strings
Until someone says your name
