She picks her clothes and lays them out
Runs her fingers through her hair
Makes up the words and sings out loud
And dances through the air
She pulls her skirt up
Checks her makeup
A tear runs down her face
It'll always be the same
Some things never change
Your colors never fade

One world one life
One love a sacrifice
Nothing to fear that she can't hide
The skeletons inside
One world one life
Is there a chance for you and I?
Underneath you just can't hide
The skeletons inside

She closed the door and walked away
Sits alone at the hotel bar
With all the years she can't erase over
Is the hardest place to start
Will it always be the same?
Some things never change
Your colors never fade

One world one life
One love one sacrifice
Nothing to fear that you can't hide
The skeletons inside
One world one life
Is there a chance for you and I?
Underneath you just can't hide
The skeletons inside

We all have skeletons inside
Your colors never fade
Never fade

Will it always be the same?
Some things never change
Your colors never fade

One world one life
One love one sacrifice
Nothing to fear that you can't hide
The skeletons inside
One world one life
Is there a chance for you and I?
Underneath you cannot hide
The skeletons inside
One world one life
One love one life

We all have skeletons inside
