(Bators - Secich)

your lies and deceiving diplomats can't reach me where i'm hiding at you'll find you have no powers over me i'm in a place where no one's been it's free of greed and all your sin and weapons that are lying to your mirror i wanna forget you just the way you are so i won't be lonely here without you near (cause i can't afford your tears) late night high rise blocks of cold with burgess growing gracefully old t.v. patterns glow where i must go dark creaking floorboards changing walls the corpse sharing sheets that leaves in morn i'm shaking in the chill of t.o. noon the silent subway's rubber grin laughs at the poise 'n arrow change i'm in you're starting finally drive me sane the oriental shopkeep waves from glen road to a better grave returning to the stance you loved me for
