I'm sorry for having no faith in me
I'm sorry for not being able to see That the end is the beginning of something new Forgive me for not letting you open your mouth
I know that I'm making you think that I doubt that the love you are giving Will be pulling me through

You always keep telling me just to fly
You know I would if I just dared to try
You know my dreams are very much the same as yours Though my heart is heavy and my wings are broke And I sometimes sore by the words that you've spoken can't you see when you're with me my feet barely touch the ground

I know I can make it with you by my side As long as I hear your voice I can turn the tides and make the pain go away
If only you remind me that god made us free
If only you keep saying your prayers for me
If only you love me I'll try my best to love you too
