(Misery)

I'm old
My body craves for more
But my heart has been through enough
Why did you leave, so fast and so cold?
You were the one who made me believe in me
So why leave me with questions?

Why did you let me fall, into the arms of misery?
Why did you let me fall, into the arms of misery?

Someday, you said, you'd come back
And bring me back to smile again, for sure
Well, I'm weak and tired of standing in dark rain, where no one can here me cry
Hiding in shame

Why did you let me fall, into the arms of misery?
Why did you let me fall, into the arms of misery?

Why did you let me fall, into the arms of misery?
(Misery)
Why did you let me fall, into the arms of misery?
(Misery, misery, misery)
