

Delacroix

"Nancy"

Visit "Nancy" on MotoLyrics.com

she cried, I love you, but she should know that nothing is free
She should know, that what's love for her isn't love for me

Maybe she thought that I would help her,
maybe she thought that I would help her out.

She lied, she couldn't see the veracity
She lied, to me, telling the truth was out of her capacity

Maybe she thought that I would help her,
maybe she thought that I would help her out.

Just an accident, we played the role of innocence so good Grab all you can until it hurts
It's all about what your life is worth so far

Maybe she thought that I would help her,
maybe she thought that I would help her out.

She cried; I love you, but she should know that nothing is free.

Maybe she thought that I would help her,
maybe she thought that I would help her out.

Visit Delacroix page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.