

Delicate, The "Window"

Over the wire inside
Images hauntingly fill the mind
Of bodies identified in the wreckage
Wherever you are tonight
You know my heart's working overtime
Faith is holding on
And choosing to deny the truth

Maybe we'll dance a little bit tonight
Come through my window
And save me from this goodbye

We sat there alone
You told me your plan's
I can't believe this is where it ends
A tear in my eye shows off that I love you
Wherever you are tonight
I'm dining alone here in candlelight
Look through time and space
Nothing can replace my heart

Maybe you'll wake inside your endless home
I'll find a way out time's moving way to slow
