Look at the mirror
It doesn't know you anymore
It doesn't talk anymore
It doesn't kiss you anymore
You don't know who you are
You just have to know that mirror look
And all, everyone, everything, is too much
For you

And I try
I try
I really try
But everything is too much easy
And all those songs that beat me in my head
It was something like...

Look at the mirror
It doesn't know you anymore
It doesn't talk anymore
It doesn't kiss you anymore
You don't know who you are
You just have to know that mirror look
And all, everyone, everything, is too much
For you
And I try
I try
I really try
But everything is too much easy
And all those songs that beat me in my head
It was something like...

You don't who you are, you got another mirror look
And all, everyone, everything, is too much
For you
And I try
I try
I really try
But everything is too much easy
And all those songs that beat me in my head
It was something like...

Look at the mirror,
You don't know, got to look,
That mirror, but everything is to much
And I try I really try,
But everything is too much easy
And I try
