[Not knowing if he would survive this quest, he said goodbye to his loved ones and begun his dangerous journey. The pain inside of him was great, but he knew he had to do this to save mankind. So with that in mind he left his home and begun his journey into the unknown.]

Someday I shall return
To the place that I love
But tonight my journey begins
For years we both knew
That this day would have to come
And tonight my journey begins
Yes I know that you have been hoping for so long
I can see the tears in your eyes
But destiny has called me, my faith is yet to see
But some day we shall meet again you'll see

I'm trying to be strong
And try to carry on
Only time can heal all my wounds
And thought I'm trying not to care
Yet when I close my eyes you're there
Holding me close in my dreams
And I know this time there's a chance I won't come home
There's a chance this quest will be my last
But as I travel into dark lands I promise I'll be brave
So that I can come back to you one day
I feel the pain in my soul
It feels so bad that we're apart
No matter how I try to let you go
You will always be there

Can you tell me baby, has our story come to end
Can you tell me baby, how to ease the pain
Yes I've tried to break it, but I guess it never ends

[solo Fredrik]

I feel the pain in my soul
It feels so bad that we're apart

No matter how I try to let you go
You will always be there
