

The Storyteller "Watcher In The Deep"

Visit "Watcher In The Deep" on MotoLyrics.com

Walking on an empty trail
You're walking on with silent steps
Don't want to stir what is in rest
Legend told so many times
Is it true or is it lie?
That something lives inside the hills
Stories say that people seem trails of something huge
What if he lives there
What if it's real then
Would he come for you?
Deep down in the mountain hall
Where no man ever been before
There you'll find the land of the mountain king
If you have to cross his way
Don't stay and rest, just haste if you can
Don't push your fate with the mountain king
(Hurry, hurry) Don't you stay there
(Evil, evil) In the air
Don't want to stay there all alone
(Silent, silent) In the air
(Dark and cold) You're in despair
You feel that something's watching you
Deep down in the mountain hall
Where no man ever been before
There you'll find the land of the mountain king
If you have to cross his way
Don't stay and rest, just haste if you can
Don't push your fate with the mountain king
Is he there in the deep hall of the mountain king?
Can you feel that he is near?
Can you see that he is near?
Legends are real
Deep down in the mountain hall
Where no man ever been before
There you'll find the land of the mountain king
If you have to cross his way
Don't stay and rest, just haste if you can
Don't push your fate with the mountain king

Visit The Storyteller page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

