In a time of chaos
When darkness was all around
She came with the light
A light to us all
From earth she was born
Creator of life
With powers to create
All beautiful life
The people, the followers
That lived by her guidelines
Have slowly begun to fade away
Forgetting the rules
Respect for all living
What once were so strong
Vanished and gone
Mother Gaia, your time will come
To claim the land, the throne
That once was your own
Mother Gaia, your time will come
To claim the land, the throne
Your time has come
