Only emptiness in me
A coming end I could not see
All the time I ask myself why

All the stars for just one night
Slowly fade away their lights
All your words to me passed by

For the first time I see clearly
What you really mean to me
We were always without fear
But I didn't feel free

The failures in my life
I can not stop! I really can't deny
If I look in your eyes

Nothing real of you remains
This pain is driving me insane
Walking on an endless way...

Forced by black spirits inside
Every time I had to fight
Hoping I will win one day

All the stars for just one night
Slowly fade away their lights
But your light is shining bright
But your light is shining inside!
