I've gotta know, are you gonna go through the fire
Coming around when it's coming down to the wire
But don't put your faith in queen and crown
It carries you up just to let you down
You're down for the count
You're knocked out

Lack of control swallows you whole from within Live for today, you don't have to say where you've been Whatever the cost, you've gone too far
With little regard for what we are
A round and a bout
You're knocked out

Ah- They say that their backs are bent and their hearts are broken
Ah- And they might, for all you know

A question you can't explain away
An order you simply don't obey
They've figured you out...
You're knocked out

...are you gonna go through the fire?
