"All Because Of You"

I'm a minstrel strolling through your garden
There's a place I ran free as a child
There's my face of innocent reflection
Living in the water and the sound

I will play my music while you're sleeping
You will wake and take me by the hand
I will wonder of this moment sometime later
Frozen by the change inside my head

And all because of you

I can sing or stare across the ocean
Shout a cry beneath the various sky
Walk around in circles 'til I'm dying
Make the shapes accustom while I hide

But all of which I felt was of a meaning
Colors that would fascinate each time
The songs that kept me living in a strange world
No longer hold a radiance in my eyes

And all because of you
