I'm watching as the morning sun rises
Before my very eyes revealing all this beauty
Questions filled my mind once again
Clearing my thoughts, have I been blind?

Now I see it

The hole is getting bigger in the sky
Do you know the reason why nobody seems to care?
Everything is so well in your life
Did you ever give a dime to things that you really believed?
The future will show what happens to whole world

We hold the key to the door
Of salvation eternally
We hold the key to minds
To the future of mankind

It's time to wake up from you dreams
To reality this can't go on, believe me
If you just turn your head away
Will tomorrow be the same? Try to foresee
The future will show what happens to whole world

We hold the key to the door
Of salvation eternally
We hold the key to minds
To the future of mankind

What will we find? Mountains to climb
More destruction and hatred we'll discover
Suddenly sounds awake me, birds singing beautifully
Maybe there is hope still left in this world

We hold the key to the door
Of salvation eternally
We hold the key to minds
To the future of mankind

We hold the key to the door
Of salvation eternally

We hold the key to minds
To the future of mankind

We hold the key to the door
Of salvation eternally
We hold the key to minds
To the future of mankind

We hold the key to the door, eternally
We hold the key to minds
We hold the key to door
