"Don't Count Me Out"

Oh, say.
Can you see what they're saying when they're not around you?
Soft lips,
Strong words,
Black metal bars on windows.
It gets ugly.
Oh, it gets ugly.

She clutches my hand like she's praying while the TV
buzzes.
Soon we leave home.
Let the dead bury the dead.
We just move on, but it gets ugly.
Oh, it gets ugly.

No, I can't be sure I'm sane.
No, I can't be sure what I've seen.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.

Safe distance,
Long time,
Lead feet,
Face forward, just keep walking.
When I come home with a drink in my hand
And a crown on my head.
No, they don't know me.
Oh, they don't know me.

No, I can't be sure I'm sane.
No, I can't be sure what I've seen.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.

Ohhhh.
Ohhhh.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.

Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
Don't count me out.
I was wrong to doubt you.
