She is far from the land where her young hero sleeps
While around her sweet lovers are sighing
But coldly she turns from their wooings and weeps
For her heart with his cold grave is lying

She sings the wild songs of her own native home
Every note which he so loved awaking
Ah but little they think who delight in her tones
How the heart of this young girl is breaking

Though he lived for his love it's for his country he died
They were all that to life had entwined him
The tears of his country may never be dried
Nor long will his love stay behind him

So make her a grave where the sun goes to rest
And think on a glorious tomorrow
May it shine on her sleep like a smile from the West
From her own lovely Island of Sorrows
