I wanna liberate you
I wanna set you free
I wanna bear your burden
Why won't you let me?

Is it so hard to let me in?
It'll take some spark for the fire to begin
And I will always love you and I'll stand by your side
A special place in my heart is where you'll reside

Please don't shut your eyes, there are so many lies
Please don't close your ears, there are so many fears
No one made you step out of line
It's just a gradual digression over time

Choking and gasping for a breath of hope
Reaching for something to cling to at the end of your rope
And I will always love you and I'll stand by your side
A special place in my heart is where you'll reside

Yeah, yeah, set free

Wipe the tears from your face
You and I will win this race
This is my promise to you

Frustration sets in
When will the healing begin?
Set free
