Degradation sets in her eyes
A lifeless figure full of desire
We do nothing as she expires

We do nothing as she expires
The rules are set, curse the liar
Victimization of another
A hopeful breath that will be smothered

Fear meets desperation
As she walks alone
Undeserving of this fate
That's been cast into stone

Sexual violence destroys silently
Sexual violence kills violently
Beauty is not shown on a movie screen
Self-worth is not depicted in a magazine

You are worth of so much more
You have so much to give
Inside is where beauty prevails
Strength and courage are not for sale

Take back control, take back the night
Take back control, take back your life
Take back control, take back the night
Take back control, take back your life

Your life
