It's OK for me to say I love you and it's OK for you to cry
The sorrow that you are feeling you should not deny
So why is it so trying to express the way I feel?
Just one moment you steal
I still care and I still feel
Time and again it's all too real
Separate and detach myself, running from all the pain I felt
Somewhere in the foothills of my mind
I know my ways aren't right-They're not right
So I'll shrug it off and wear a grin
I'll carry on and just pretend
I still care and I still feel
Time and again it's all too real.
