

Strike Anywhere

"Modern Life"

Visit "Modern Life" on MotoLyrics.com

Upon us all bought and sold into the lie of modern life
Given all the right things to pacify our anger and strife
Given the tv to help us forget modeling poisons
We place our bets feeling like I can't see a thing
When my eyes are wide open
Under the millennium's shadow

Hear the rain of justice fall
Awaiting all this time
Release upon us all under the millennium's shadow
Hear the rain of justice fall
Awaiting all this time upon us all us all

The currency of life
Stretched out to wait the blood on our hands
Will follow the fashion the innocent blood upon our plates Withered in vision a martyred witness
Kept by contempt from our native stillness
Glued to the screams on the screen
The false idols of order are calling under the millennium's shadow

Hear the rain of justice fall
Awaiting all this time release upon us all
Under the millennium's shadow
Hear the rain of justice fall awaiting all this time
Released upon us all

We all die
Our choice lies in the time
Where we grow out of this modern life
Release upon us all we're bought and sold
Into the lie of this fucking modern life
Our social mask calls our anger happiness
We're all crushed beneath the lie you've built
Calling you to wake the fuck up.

Visit Strike Anywhere page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

