this engines revving and the tires are burning the smell of asphalt lingers in the air my head is spinning and my thoughts are burning the ground is shaking with every stare tell me where just tell me how tell me where im supposed to go a thousand miles down this one way street where it stops i dont know hallucinations feeding desecrations never bargained for a ride like this lying disgrace has locked me up my fate down and out but not alone so

[Spoken]

A one way trip to the center of my spine to the desert i call my mind and in my rearview i'm watched by the same set of burning eyes Will you assure me i'm home-free? so i shift into neutral and i let it ride ive dug my grave and locked my door no prayers gonna save me now this machines superficial fate just awaits ive lost all control of my world

a thousand miles down this one way street
bridge of ASHES

burn all the things that you feel inside you gotta watch your fuckin war cause your gonna die burn all the things that are slipping away and watch the fall of society ash to ashes dust to dust outside the temple where we used to burn burn all the things that are slipping away burn everything thats fucking up society burn all the dreams that you keep inside ya burn them all back to the ground.
