I lie awake again no sleep tonight,
I find no peace in the quiet absence of the light
A million whispered thoughts floatin' through my head
A million seconds has passed me by in my bed One two three now it's four in the mornin' as the emptiness swallows me on more time I grow a little older with every second that passes I die a little every time I close my eyes
No sanctuary in my dreams,
no quiet place to hide every night I swear it's the same And I don't know where I'll be tonight but I know sleep will come if I walk all night It's been a thousand hours maybe even more since I fell victim to all the thoughts I tried to ignore Nameless faces and sounds, voices screamin' in pain, huddled shadows And sirens voices calling my name.
Well I can't sleep but I'm not Awake to this hazy dim version of reality.
Hypnotized by everything I can't control Desensitized by everything that controls me
No sanctuary in my dreams,
no quiet place to hide
Well I can't sleep so it's here in the dark I'll make my peace with all that I've learned Sanity's just another dream away

maybe with time it'll be alright Everynight I swear it's the same,
I walk all night and never ever get anywhere
It's taken all my strength, it's taken all the life that used to flow deep inside of me
So
in my dreams I'll find my peace
All of my days are filled with no rest
Maybe with time it'll be alright
