Won't you open up your heart and let me come inside
Please let the loving start to climb
I know you may wonder why, I've come to hold you tight
I don't want you to cry tonight

I will take you in my arms, sing your favorite song
And tell you of your charms, all night long
You've been hurt over again, with all my love I say
I am holding out my hand

You won't be lonely anymore
You won't be lonely anymore

For so long you've been in rain but now you're warm and dry
You've been through all the pain and now it's blue skies
You'll be happy and secure, as long as you are mine
And as long as I am yours

You won't be lonely anymore
No, you won't be lonely anymore, no

You won't be lonely anymore, no
You won't be lonely anymore
You won't be lonely anymore
You won't be lonely anymore

So won't you open up your hear and let me come inside
Please let the loving start to climb
I will take you in my arms and I will hold you tight
You won't be lonely tonight
