Come into the darkness with me now take my hand and I will lead you to the fallen land
I know now that solitude is my sole relief
The voices from beyond is turning joy into grief

The walls are coming closer or is it in my mind
And they look at me from that door behind
So welcome to my home of approaching doom
Or just leave me here in my bloodstained room

I know abominations that you can not see
I'm trapped here in the darkness I will never be free
The storm is growing stronger still inside of my head
No one else can hear it, but it's alive not dead
