Sometimes I need some air
To get away, I don't know where I see You reach out from afar, but I can't see You where You are No I won't see You where You are

And so I run away, I run away from You
I'm tired of listening when You tell me what to do
I know You said, You'll always take me back
But what's the use
Cos I'm not listening
No there's no use
I've stopped listening

I'm here in the dark, shivering with the cold
I can't crawl back, but this guilty feeling's growing old
I feel Your presence from afar, but I can't feel You where You are No I won't feel You where you are

And so I run away, I run away from You
I'm tired of listening when You tell me what to do
I know You said, You'll always take me back
But what's the use
Cos I'm not listening
No there's no use
I've stopped listening

I won't seek You where You are Lord make me seek You where You are

And so I run away, I run away from You
I'm tired of listening when You tell me what to do
I know You said, You'll always take me back
but what's the use
Cos I'm not listening
I guess I lose
by not listening
