Inside me like poison
You taste good to the tongue
But you're here and gone and gone and gone again
I do my best to embrace these colors and these skies
"So long," I said, "Let it go, let it go"

I gave it my all
But you were winter suicide
May your soul be at rest

Hello, hello
This is your conscience calling
Call it now cause your lucky star's falling down

My imagination puts you in black
(On the floor, on the bed)
Satin back to back
Nowhere to be found
You've lost you're step
Lost pages and lost words
And a heart at best
We're burning now
"Let it go, let it go"

I gave it my all
But you were winter suicide
May your soul be at rest

Hello, hello
This is your conscience calling
Call it now cause your lucky star's falling down
