"Firefly"

sparks flying through the room
my head's on fire
and there is nothing i can do i'm in the whirlwind far beyond reach
i wish that you would be here too

fading fire
the wakened eye
soon turning blue again

for all gone before
all left undone
put down your walking-stick and run i'm on a blind-ride
all screens are blank
looking forward running back and all is one

to each his own
all is one

but i am alone
as i run
through the fire
